OS (but with reading the comment). Was ok until I noticed that skipped one clip. It made me stressed. But the route is fine, small holds are not so bad.

Flashed. But not easily. Tricky to figure out the right moves (it seems it's always the case for me on this overhang).

Summary

The project ‘Climbing Routes’ is a web application that displays up to date information of the currently available boulder and sport routes at Gaswerk¹ and Milandia² climbing gyms of Zürich, Switzerland.

Data is downloaded from the official websites and updated automatically once a day: new routes are added to the table, while taken down routes are marked ‘retired’ but kept in the table.

Its sortable and filterable table view (see 1.4. Sorting and 1.2. Filters) provides an easy way to find routes with specific parameters. E.g. all routes by the same setter, all routes with grade 6a, or even all green routes are easy to find. By its default sort (setting date descending) you can see all recently added routes right after page load.

Interactive map view (see 2. Map view) with highlights lets you quickly filter routes to one sector. This helps locale specific routes seen in the gym.

Every route has a details page (see 3.1. Details) with a comments section (see 3.2. Comments) so you can share your opinion and read how others found the route.

Future Development

On each route details page you have 3 buttons to state your quick opinion (see 3.3. Quick opinion):

Loved it

Too hard for the grade

Too easy for the grade

On each route details page you can mark your latest achievement with one of the 5 buttons (see 3.4. Results):

 On-sighted  Flashed  Red-pointed  Attempted  Toproped

Route details show statistics of other people’s results:

- How many of the climbers on-sighted, flashed or red-pointed this route out of all that tried (see 3.5 Other’s results).

On your personal profile see your statistics:

- Your best results so far (highest grade on-sighted/red-pointed, see 4.1 Best result).
- A bar chart of number of routes climbed in each grade. The bar chart can be filtered to show only routes that were on-sighted / flashed / red-pointed / toproped or any combination of these four. (E.g. all routes that were on-sighted and flashed but not the ones red-pointed or toproped, see 4.2. Grade statistics).
- Clicking on a grade in the bar chart lists all those climbed routes. Clicking on a route in the list brings up its details page (see 4.3. List of routes for grade).

1. Main page

1.1. Quick filter

Buttons to quick filter Gym: Gaswerk or Milandia. And route type: sport routes (lead, toprope, toppas) or Boulders.

The screenshot shows a web browser displaying a climbing route database. At the top, there are two blue buttons: 'Milandia' and 'Gaswerk'. Below them is a 'Route Type' dropdown set to 'Sport'. To the right are two links: 'Map of Gaswerk' and 'Map of Milandia'. A red arrow points from the 'Gaswerk' button to the 'Gaswerk' link. Another red arrow points from the 'Sport' button to the 'Boulder' link. The main content area shows a table of climbing routes with columns for PI, Route, Grade, Setting Date, Color, Bould/Sport, Sector, New/Last Call, Latest Comment, and All. The table lists 329 routes, with the first few rows shown below:

1.2. Filters

Type in edit boxes to filter by any field. Including route name, route number, grade, setter, color, sector, etc.

E.g.: Sport routes from Gaswerk with grade 6a+ located in one of the outdoor sectors:

The screenshot shows a web page titled "Climbing Routes of Gaswerk and Milandia". At the top, there are buttons for "Filter Gym" (Milandia, Gaswerk), "Route Type" (Sport, Boulder), and links to "Map of Gaswerk" and "Map of Milandia". Below this is a search bar with filters: "Gr." (set to 6a+), "Setting Date", "Color", "Bould/Sport" (set to Sport), "Sector" (set to outdoor), "New/Last Call", "Latest Comment", and "All". The main area displays a table of climbing routes, filtered by the selected criteria. The table columns are: Pl., #, Route, Gr., Setting Date, Color, Bould/Sport, Sector, New/Last Call, Latest Comment, and All. The data in the table is as follows:

Pl.	#	Route	Gr.	Setting Date	Color	Bould/Sport	Sector	New/Last Call	Latest Comment	All

1.3. Column Visibility

Select which columns to show with the Column Visibility button.

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the title "Climbing Routes of Gaswerk and Milandia". At the top, there are filter buttons for "Filter Gym: Milandia" (selected), "Gaswerk", "Route Type: Sport" (selected), and "Boulder". To the right are links for "Map of Gaswerk" and "Map of Milandia". The main area displays a table of 14 climbing routes, each with columns for PI, #, Route, Gr., Setting Date, Color, Bould/Sport, and Sector. Below the table is a message: "Showing 1 to 14 of 14 entries (filtered from 1,005 total entries)". On the far right, there is a "Column visibility" button, followed by a search bar and a dropdown menu. The dropdown menu lists various columns and other filters, such as "Latest Comment" and "All". A red arrow points from the "Column visibility" button towards this dropdown menu.

1.4. Sorting

Order by any column ascending or descending with the up/down arrows.

E.g. Gaswerk sport routes ordered by grade descending:

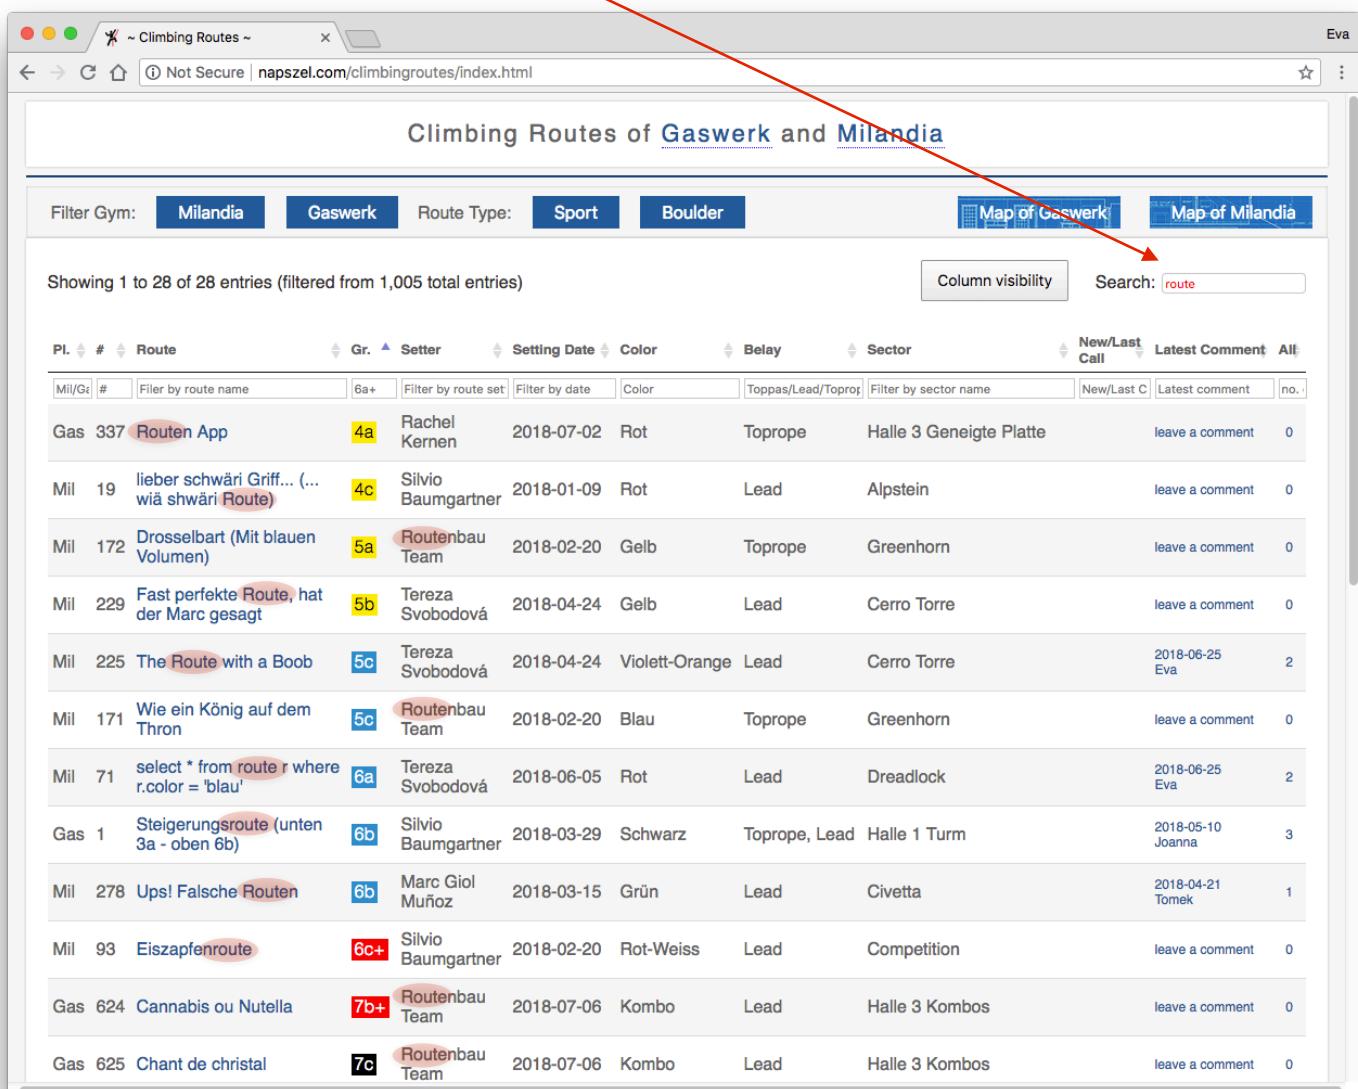

The screenshot shows a web browser displaying a list of climbing routes. The URL is <https://napszel.com/climbingroutes/index.html>. The page title is "Climbing Routes of Gaswerk and Milandia". The filter settings are: Gym set to Gaswerk, Route Type set to Sport. The table lists 329 routes, showing columns for PI., #, Route, Gr. (Grade), Setting Date, Color, Bould/Sport, Sector, New/Last Call, Latest Comment, and All. A red arrow points to the "Gr." column header, indicating it is being used for sorting. The routes are listed in descending order of grade, starting with "Galaxy" at 9a and ending with "La reine des pommes" at 8a.

Done leading. Sill like it (but apparently it turned harder earlier this time ;)).

Perfect warmup: you can gradually climb everything from 3a to 6b on one route. By the time you get to the top, you are ready for 6c. :)

Good also for cool down - just few hard moves.
More interesting than the previous one in this place - I really felt how the difficulty was increasing.
Top line this time but I have to lead it - It's nice.
